when China was carrying one her fundamental policy of maintaining international pages and national unity, has plunged the whole nation into a state of deep indignation and has given and orinous inor asion to the whole world. The consequences of this incident have periously threatened the very existence of China as well as the pages of East Asi. At this moment of emergency, I wish to clarify our position in response to various questions but forth to me.

Dolicy of the National Government is waintenance of national unity in domestic affairs and the entural respect and co-exlatence with other Powers in foreign relations. The afarement mentioned policy is clearly enunciated in the Declaration of the Third mational Assembly of February this year. The irrifutable facts during the mast two years testifies beyond doubt that the national Government has tried to abjust its relationship with Japan and has always reserted to universally recognized channel of diplomatic negotiation for the settlement of all disputes pending between the two Governments.

The Chinese occobe must first of all understand the position of their country. We must be aware of the situation vo are in. We must frankly estimate our strongth as the popula of a mank nation. During the sorious national crises of the hast for years we have made great efforts to seems beace, in spite of unandurable sufferings, hoping thereby to revive the Chinese pools. It was for this reason, that in reporting on dislomatic affairs at the Fifth General assembly held a year before last that I stated: " o will never give up being so long as there is hope left for its maintenance. We will not somek of the sacrifices until we have exhausted our patience." Our carnest desire for the maintenance of peace is further clarified in a statement I made later at the Control Executive Council. Thile admitting our weakness as a nation, we firmly believe in one thing we must do in case of extreme emergency and that is, to fight with all our strength for the existence of our country. and once we fight, to should not by any means seek helfway neace becouse of time or situation. If we sock so co in midst of war, we shall be forced to accept terms which will mean enslavement of our country and complet annihilation of our race. I d sire that the Chinese people will be fully aware of the limit of their putience' and the extent of sacrifics expected to be made when that limit is exceeded. Once we reach that stage, we must fight it out at all costs in horns of our final victory. If we hesitate and give way to momentary ease, we must berish for ovor.

Some occole may suppose that the Marco Pole Incident was in unexpected and unpremiditated occurrence. However, athering from the newspaper resorts of Japan and direct as well as indirect statements made by the Japanese diplomatic asometer. it had door apparent from a month before, that some sort of in incident was going to take aloca. Moreover, just before and after the incident I received informations at ting that the Japanese were olanning: to extend the Tangla agreement: to extend the unrecognized Robei-Chahar Government; to drive out the 29th army and Sung Topun: in short, to force upon us various dominds of this sort. Therefore, it is clear that the marco Polo Pridge Incident was not a more accident. From this incident, we can see that the Japanese have assumed a fire attitude toward us and therefore, beace is going to be very difficult to maintain. according to informations gathored on our part, it is without doubt that the only way in which we could have prevented the outbrook of the Marco Polo Sridge Incident was to suffer the foreign forces to enter our territory and let them behave as they plaused, and futh remore to limit the activities of our own forces. From another visupoint, it want allowing the Japanese forces to fire upon us and to abstain on our part from roturning the fire. No self-respecting nation in the world would have been able to stand such a hurilistion. Six years have all sold sine, we lost the four north-eastern provinces, then Tangku agreement followed, and now the point at issue of the harco Polo Bringo Inclient has reached the city of Poking. If to approve to let the meny occury the surce Pole Bridge by force, then the 400 year old craital of our country and the political and strat great contar of Worth China will fall into the hands of the enemy. and what becomend to lake a mid the four north-unstern provinces in the heat will probably heaten again to Poking and the provinces of Hopei and Challer. Moreover, if Poking is to become the second lankdom, how can are prevent Nanking from becoming a second Poking? Therefore, the destiny of the whole nation now depends upon the security of the succe Polo Bridge. and the present of succeful settlement of the incident will be determined by the 'limit of our nationce." In case we reach a point theme, the worst situation is unwoidable we must fight with firm determination even at the greatest cost. This war can be said to be forced upon as from outside. We do not sook war. However, we were conselled to fight back the att. eks throatening our existence.

I wish the whole country understand that the Central Government is not busily engaged in propering for national defens. Although a week nation, we cannot fail to take means to secure the existence of our people and the integrity of our country. It is our duty to exhaust all possible efforts to keep intact what we have inherited from our for fathers. For again and fight it out to the very ond. If we loss further, even a small piece of our beloved land, we shall be responsible for a serious crime unforgivable against our own rice. It such a critical moment, I report, the only alternative is to resist the enemy with all our might and look forward to final victory.

III

at this serious moment, Japan is placed in the position to decide whether the wares Polo Bridge Incident will be so fatel as to expand into large-scale armed hostilities between the two nations. It all depends on future actions of the Japanese forces, thether we may get be hopeful of peaceful solution between Japan and China. We shall indeavor to settle the matter through channels of diplomatic agents as before until all hope for peace is abandoned. Our course of action to be pursued in this incident may be summarized in the following four points.

- .) No proposal for solution, which infringes China's territorial integrity and sovereignty, shall be admitted.
- B) The Central Government reserves the right to decide the status of the Hopei-Chahar Political Committee, and no illegal change shall be admitted.
- C) We cannot assent to the dismissed of any local officials appointed by the Central Government such as the Chief of the Hopei-Chahar Political Committee through outside pressure.

Def. Doc. No. 1283

D) We cannot accept my matriction to the area in which the 29th Route army is stationed at present.

nowaver, soverless we may be, the above-mentioned four points are the minimum possible terms for an independent state to accept as the basis of a negativation.

If from should be placed in our situation, and moreover, if she is really anxious to maintain beace in East isia so as to avoid steps to draw both nations into the vortex of war, Jaman would surely idmit that the foregoing four terms are the minimum possible to be taken into consideration. In brief, the Control Wovernment, in face of the crisis of this Marco Polo Pridge incident, is firmly adhering to the arccise and decisive standpoint to insura the existence of China. China is an independent state. We are desirous of seace but have not the intention to cling to no co at any cost. We do not mant war but it can not be denied that we may be obliged to defend ourselves. In f co of this urgent crisis, the government is going to direct the booble with serunity and prudence. The secol, as well, should know serfect order with serious attitude. +n order to fulfil the duty inposed upon our race, I wish that the people would follow the directions of the Government, keeping control solid as iron, without distinction of place or age, and uniting purselves in a body.
